Not much new but here's the Latest from the RCMP:

- RCMP are engaged in continuing conversations with the main protest organizers at the Coutts border crossing. There is a separate group which is not cooperating with the main group.
- RCMP reached an agreement with the main group yesterday, allowing approximately 40 trucks who were not part of the protest to leave. Discussions continued overnight.
- This morning, enforcement action was delayed as truck drivers who had previously agreed to assist in towing away the trucks withdrew their offers of assistance. RCMP is currently exploring other options with industry.
- CBSA and USBP are working with RCMP to open other border crossings to enable movement for traffic not caught in the blockade in Coutts.
- Media calls will be addressed by Alberta RCMP.
